...AND SOME EVANGELISTS

What you hold in your hand is the pictorial quadrennial Evangelists' Perspective. There is page after page of our Evangelists listed and pictured whom God has given to our Zion. These are folks that we in The United States and Canada Mission and Evangelism Department have quizzed and tested as to the definite nature of their call to this unique work. Many denominations could not fill even one page with their group! Yes, we are blessed!

The words in Ephesians 4:11 "...and some Evangelists" are more than black print on white paper. These are the words of the Holy Spirit given to St. Paul for us in even this day. Who are these Evangelists and how should they be used in our churches today in the dawn of century 21? These are questions I have lived with daily and often nightly these few years I have been the Revivalism Coordinator. Our churches, schools and ministry are pondering this long discussion in general.

Fewer than half of our churches still have at least one revival event a year, yet I am deeply grateful for those who do. I cringe, however, when in the meetings there are far too many general altar calls with every kind of need represented. Words like born-again, entire sanctification, cleansing the heart from the self-principle, repentance, restitution, heart cleansing, sin, and praying through are in many areas thought to be too "old school" to be of any use at all. "Joining the fellowship of believers" or "coming to faith" is the kind of phraseology used most often.

In a recent revival at one of our university churches, a close friend of mine and a professor at the school expressed concern that students who were so needy—their lives obviously out of control and often without the advantage of a Christian home and with zero understanding of spiritual things—dozed off in the malaise of language that completely missed the mark in their needy

A NAZARENE STORY

by G. Stuart McWhirter

The Church of the Nazarene and I have traveled together through about three-fourths of the 100 years of Nazarene history. The Church of the Nazarene will continue into a future I will not have the pleasure of sharing. If I could see into the future, I could have no greater joy than in knowing my denomination will continue faithful to the Gospel of Jesus Christ and Wesleyan theology. My life and world have been a Nazarene life and world. If I could repeat my journey, I would not have it otherwise.

When I was age 18 years, C.E. Shumake appointed me pastor of a circuit of three churches. How many teenagers have been circuit-riding pastors? I served as pastor of one of these churches for 6 1/2 years. I have now concluded 50 consecutive years as a Nazarene Evangelist.

Memories multiply. In camp meetings and district assembly-camp meeting combinations, I have co-preached with General Superintendents, District Superintendents, Evangelists, pastors and Nazarene educators. A list of these names virtually encompasses much of Nazarene history in the last half of the 20th century. I dare to name only a few: Hardy C. Powers, G.B. Williamson, George Coulter, Edward Lawlor, Talmadge Johnson, Hugh C. Benner, Samuel Young, V.H. Lewis, Orville Jenkins, Jerald Johnson, Raymond Hurn, Eugene Stowe, John A. Knight, Jim Diehl, Charles Strickland, T.W. Willingham, William Greathouse, Elmer Schmelzenbach, Elwood Sanner, Chuck Milhuff, Leon Chambers, Jim Crabtree, Roy Fuller, Mendall Taylor, Willard Taylor, Nick Hull, John L. Knight, H. Dale Mitchell, Bob Hoots, I.C. Mathis, Ralph West, Clayton Bailey, Dennis Kinlaw, Steve Green, Larry Lott, Harold Graves, Sr., Gary Haines, Nelson Perdue, Raymond Kratzer, E.L. Cornelison, Bill Eckel, Alex Deasley, Lyle Eckley, Harold Daniels, Bert Daniels, C.B. Cox, Jack Sanders, John Hancock, Glen Jones, L.S. Oliver, Wilbur Brannon, Oscar Reed, Hoyle Thomas, George Lyons, E.W. Martin, Richard Strickland, Joseph Mayfield, Don Pfeiffer and Bob Taylor.

My life was being shaped long before I was born and before the Church of the Nazarene came into existence. I am the fourth generation of my family to be in the Wesleyan Holiness movement. John Lakin Brasher, the famous Methodist pulpit orator and peerless preacher of Holiness, often preached revival campaigns in the little Methodist Episcopal Church that was built on my grandfather's land. He most often stayed in my grandparent's home during those meetings. My great grandmother was known as the "shoutingest" Methodist in North Alabama. My roots are deep and the soil is rich. I am filled with deepest gratitude for my heritage.

A greatly formative providence occurred in my childhood. In the year I was born, George W. Wall arrived as pastor of the Church of the Nazarene in my hometown. He remained as my pastor until I was age 13. For half of those years, he served without salary. He and his wife, Dessie, consistently exemplified Christian Holiness. They were the greatest catechism of Christian faith I ever read. In a time when legalism was widespread, Brother Wall was never legalistic. He was balanced in his preaching and never harsh. Because of his influence, I never became legalistic. Frankly, I have said I grew up on an island of sanity in a sea of legalism. Although Brother Wall was a close friend of such historic Nazarenes as C.B. Jernigan, he spent his ministry in comparative obscurity. He and countless other unsung heroes of faith, whose names were never widely known, are the true royalty in the Kingdom of God and the strongest pillars in God's church. I thank God that He let me know so many of them. The trials have been small. The blessings have been large. Companions have been dear. The Lord has let me travel a long and wonderful road.

lives. Many were athletes recruited from the urban centers and the housing projects they live in who, frankly, were as pagan as posts. Such lofty language as “joining the community of faith” or “standing with the universal Catholic church in compassion” was meaningless to their simple, confused, unsaved, lost condition—though I do know that these words have deep and important meaning to many of us.

Language does change, but the concept needs to stay intact. People still need to know what it means to be transformed in initial salvation—BORN AGAIN—becoming a child of God. Any language that makes it less definite, less urgent, and opaque to the mind of the convicted sinner is not an improvement. The same is true for the unsanctified person who is struggling with the fluctuations of sin in their newness of life and is longing for stability and wonderful spiritual growth. A person standing in the altar service needs a clear call to repentance, a brand new start—a turning from sin—a moment of deliverance. Do you get the feeling that I am making a plea here? Well you are right!

I pray that the men and woman in this book will deliver to your church a sensible yet hard-hitting message that makes both heaven and hell clear. Pray for these people and support them with all you can. They are more than my friends, they are a part of language the Holy Spirit gave St. Paul 2,000 years ago. They have different abilities and approaches that are of God. Your church needs their variety. I am so proud of them, and I pray for revival that will bring catastrophic change to The Church of the Nazarene, my church. 📺

THE INGREDIENTS OF REAL LIFE

by Stephen Manley

Jesus' baptism by John the Baptist is a pivotal event in His life. Without this story we would be plagued with confusion about Christ's life as well as our own. How did Jesus accomplish His ministry? What was the intimacy level between the Father and the Son? How does God intend for us to live? What ministry has God called us to? Where is the resource to accomplish this ministry? This simple story answers all of these questions. It gives us a picture of what God intends for our lives.

Repentance—The Attitude Matthew 3:13

All elements of Christ's life are in this event. When we know the details of His life, we tend to interpret this story in light of those facts. This is complicated because we love Him and know His greatness, but this may also lead us to a wrong view. Our approach should be to take all we know about the life of Christ and interpret it by this story.

John addresses the Pharisees and Sadducees. It is not a call to repent of their sins as it was to the people. It was simply a call to repent. He preached, “Repent, for the kingdom of heaven is at hand!” (Matthew 3:2). He does not mention sin in his message. Repentance means to give up a former thought in order to embrace a second thought. He calls them from their traditions, Old Testament, to the new thing God is doing in Christ, the Messiah. Since Christ has come, they must now abandon the former thought and embrace this new, second thought.

Jesus responds to this message. In most of us, the former thought would be our sinful ways. The righteousness of Christ would be the second thought. It is different for Jesus since He knew no sin (Hebrews 4:15). Jesus surrenders all He has known previously to embrace the ministry of the cross at hand. His repentance is an attitude of openness to the Father. This will be tested throughout the three years of ministry. His ministry will be very successful; they will eventually desire to crown Him King (John 6:15). Will Jesus live in the attitude of repentance, giving up the former success to embrace the second thought of the coming cross? The Garden of Gethsemane is a location of this test. Will Jesus repent? Repentance is not an experience we have; it is an attitude in which we live.

Righteousness—The Absoluteness Matthew 3:14–15

In this story a conflict arises between John and Jesus. John's concern seems to come from his attitude of esteem for Christ. John sees his need. He cannot conceive how he could possibly baptize Jesus (Matthew 3:14). The grammar of the verb verifies consistent resistance to the idea.

Jesus admits John is right. Proper protocol for their situation would be for Jesus to baptize John. But protocol and comfort are not the issue. The issue is righteousness. The Greek word used by Jesus is peculiar to Matthew's account. Matthew uses this word seven times, and it is used in the sense of denoting the conduct of a man who is in agreement with God's will. It is not simply a moral quality. It is the heart of God for the situation at hand.

Jesus invites John the Baptist to walk with Him into the new covenant. It is not about law or religious requirement but about the heart of the Father. Jesus will not deviate from this. This is the standard for His life. He often stands against His culture. The heart of the Father must become our passion, our righteousness!

Revelation—The Awareness Matthew 3:16

John the Baptist and Jesus go into the River Jordan to fulfill righteousness. They came up immediately from the water; (Matthew 3:16). This baptism is different from other baptisms where people evidently lingered to confess their sins, for Jesus' baptism was not about repentance of sins. His time was rather spent in the heavenlies, for the heavens were open to Him. (Matthew 3:16).

This revealing phraseology is used several times in the New Testament. While all God's revelation is vitally important, this phrase heightens its value. Jesus moves into an expanded revelation of God's heart. As the "second Adam" (1 Corinthians 15:45), He opens a door for mankind which has been closed since the fall of the "first Adam." Jeremiah prophesied, "No more shall every man teach his neighbor, and every man his brother saying, 'Know the Lord,' for they all shall know Me, from the least of them to the greatest of them, says the Lord," (Jeremiah 31:34).

Christ has opened heaven to us, giving new meaning to the old phrase "The sky is the limit!"

Resource—The Anointing Matthew 3:16

Jesus is filled with the Holy Spirit at His baptism. All four Gospel writers emphasize this. This is the resource by which Jesus will accomplish the call of the Father. But there is an important distinction. The fullness of the Spirit is not given as a resource for extra activities of ministry. This would mean Jesus was filled with the Spirit as special men in the Old Testament were filled. Jesus' filling of the Holy Spirit is the new covenant. He is the first one, the prototype. His life will be sourced by the Spirit of the Father. He moves into a new intimacy with the Father which determines His attitudes, mannerisms and direction.

Then Jesus was led up by the Spirit into the wilderness to be tempted by the devil, (Matthew 4:1). From this point Jesus' life, even His temptations, are orchestrated by the indwelt Spirit. He is displayed as the new man God produces in the new covenant.

Relationship—The Affection Matthew 3:17

All of the other ingredients of this story find their meaning in this last one. What if the revealed God is mean and wicked? What if we cannot trust Him? What if He is selfish and uses us as slaves for His own benefit? Then none of the above elements are worth embracing.

This last ingredient thunders into our lives as the canvas upon which the master artist has beautifully drawn the others. He loves us! It is proved in the man called Jesus. The Father has spoken, "This is My beloved Son, in whom I am well pleased," (Matthew 3:17). This is startling; some have questioned it. Jesus continually hammered this truth into His disciples. In the closing hours before the crucifixion, Jesus tells the disciples they will receive this same resource of the Spirit (John 14, 15, 16). The important aspect of that message is this element of love! He said, "As the Father loved Me, I also have loved you; abide in My love," (John 15:9). Let us run with anticipation to this great heart of God. All the ingredients are now ours in Christ. We can live in this same flow of the Spirit of God. Intimacy with God is ours! ☒
